

News from the Ludington Area Arts Council
November 30, 2010
Contact: Terry Murphy
terry@ludingtonartscouncil.org or 231-690-6058

Post-Holiday Parade Party This Friday, December 3 at the Ludington Area Center for the Arts

LUDINGTON – After the holiday parade in downtown Ludington, everyone is invited to head on over to the Ludington Area Center for the Arts to warm up with a free mini-concert by the Ludington High School Wind Symphony and free hot chocolate and cookies provided by PNC Bank. Santa will be on hand greeting kids in the Center’s gallery. The Center’s gift shop will be open until 8 p.m. along with other shops in downtown Ludington.

The parade begins at 6:30 p.m. with the party at the Center beginning when the parade ends.

The Ludington Area Center for the Arts is located at 107 S. Harrison St., half a block south of Ludington Avenue in the historic former home of the United Methodist Church. For more information, call 231-845-2787 or go to the Center’s website: www.ludingtonartscouncil.org. Parking for Center events is available in the lot south of the Center at the southeast corner of Loomis and Harrison streets.

###